

Richard C. Barton
Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University
Department of Public Administration and International Affairs
Syracuse, New York
rcbarton@syr.edu | (845) 802-3305 | www.richardbarton.weebly.com

Appointment

Syracuse University

Assistant Teaching Professor, Public Administration and Policy Studies
August 2022 – present

Unite America Institute

Democracy Fellow
February 2022 – present

Education

Phd Cornell University, Ithaca, NY

Government (Expected June 2022, currently ABD)
Major: American Politics (with Distinction), Minor: Quantitative Methods
Committee: Suzanne Mettler (co-chair), David Batemen (co-chair), Richard Bensel, Kenneth Roberts, Douglas Kriner

MA Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University

Political Science, May 2016

BA Marist College, Poughkeepsie, NY

Major: Political Science; Minor: Mathematics, December 2008

Peer-Reviewed Publications

Barton, Richard. 2022. “Upending the New Deal Regulatory Regime: Democratic Party Position Change on Financial Regulation.” Perspective on Politics.

Barton, Richard. 2022. “A Primary Threat: How Ideological Primary Challengers Exacerbate Polarization.” Party Politics.

Barton, Richard and Spencer Piston. 2021. “Undeserving Rich or Untrustworthy Government? How Elite Rhetoric Erodes Support for Soaking the Rich.” Politics, Groups and Identities.

Working Papers

Barton, Richard and David Bateman. "Gilded Age Doughfaces and Reluctant Reformers: Northern Democrats and Civil Rights in the late-Nineteenth Century."

Barton, Richard. "Strong Parties and Policy with Diffuse Benefits."

Other Publications

Jan 4, 2023. "The Problem with Primaries: To Free Political Parties from Fringe Candidates, We Need to Eliminate Primaries that Favor Extremes." The American Purpose.

June 10, 2022. "Congress is Polarized. Fear of Being 'Primaried' is One Reason." Washington Post: Monkey Cage.

April 27, 2022. "Le Pen Could've Won Here: France Provides an Example of How American Electoral Institutions Distort Voter Representation." The Bulwark.

August 3, 2021. "How Campaigns and Distrust Undermine Efforts to 'Soak the Rich.'" Medium: 3Streams.

September 11, 2020. "Science Says Reopen Syracuse City Schools." Syracuse Post Standard.

October 28, 2019. "How Challenges in Primaries Shift the Policy Agendas of Political Parties." Scholars Strategy Network.

March 24, 2018. "Want Gun Reform? Republicans Who Support Gun Reform Need to Run in the Primaries." CNN Online.

Research Grants and Fellowships

Dirksen Congressional Center, Congressional Research Grant (2020)

Grant for "From New Deal to Neoliberalism: Why Democrats Championed Financial Deregulation." ($3,375)

Cornell University Graduate School, Research Travel Grant (2019-2020)

Grant for archival dissertation research ($2,000)

American Studies Program, Cornell University, Graduate Research Grant (2018)

Grant for research assistants for dissertation research ($990)

Scholars Strategy Network, Graduate Fellowship (2017-2020) ($1,000/year)

Sage Fellowship, Cornell University (2020-2021 & 2016-2017)

Conference Presentations

“Systematic Pro-Market Position Change on Financial Regulation”

- American Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2022

Discussant for Book Panel on Hijacking the Agenda: Economic Power and Political Influence by Christopher Witko, Jana Morgan, Nathan Kelly and Peter Enns

- American Political Economy Conference, 2021 (Organized by Jacob Hacker, Paul Pierson, Kathleen Thelen and Alexander Herterl-Fernandez)

“From New Deal to Neoliberalism: Why Democrats Championed Financial Deregulation.”

- American Political Economy Summer Workshop, 2021 (Organized by Jacob Hacker, Paul Pierson, Kathleen Thelen and Alexander Herterl-Fernandez)
- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2021

“Gilded Age Doughfaces and Reluctant Reformers: Northern Democrats and Civil Rights in the Late-Nineteenth Century”

- American Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2018

Discussant for presentation on “Prejudice, Priming and Presidential Voting: Panel Evidence from the 2016 Election” by Daniel Hopkins

- Cornell University, Department of Government, Spring of 2018

“The Party Reacts: How Primary Threats Exacerbate Polarization”

- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2019
- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2017

“Taxes, Trust and the Undeserving Rich: How Campaigns Depress Support for ‘Soaking’ the Wealthy”

- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2019

“What's the Matter with Washington (State)?: How Political Distrust Prevents Americans from Soaking the Rich”

- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2017

“Policy to Preserve the Status Quo: Explaining the Emergence of State-Level Excellence Reform Coalitions ”

- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2015

Teaching Experience

Professor, Department of Public Administration and International Affairs, Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University

- Introduction to Policy Studies (Spring 2023)
- Policy Design and Implementation, MPA course (Fall 2022)
- Policy Studies Internship, undergraduate course (Fall 2022, Spring 2023)

Instructor, Department of Government, Saint Lawrence University, American Political Parties (Spring 2021)

Skills

Stata, R, Excel

Services

Graduate Fellow for the Scholars Strategy Network (Central New York Chapter)

Board of Directors, Syracuse Cooperative Market

Editorial Board of Yale State and Local Policy Review

Reviewer for American Politics Research

References

Suzanne Mettler, John L. Senior Professor of American Institutions in the Government Department at Cornell University

Contact: suzanne.mettler@cornell.edu

David Bateman, Associate Professor of Government at Cornell University

Contact: dab465@cornell.edu

Richard Bensel, Gary S. Davis Professor of Government at Cornell University

Contact: rfb2@cornell.edu

Kenneth Roberts, Richard J. Schwartz Professor of Government at Cornell University

Contact: kr99@cornell.edu