Networking Night for Economics Majors

The Economics Department has partnered with SU Career Services to hold a Networking Night for Economics Majors. The event is held each semester and offers economics majors the opportunity to meet with employers and learn about career and internship opportunities for economics majors at several companies.

Since its start, Networking Night has been a huge success and has continued to grow each semester. The most recent networking night was held on February 10th. In attendance were representatives from JPMorgan, Northwestern Mutual, General Electric, Macy's, Burlington Coat Factory, First Investors Corp, Primerica Financial Services, IDEA, and AFLAC.

The feedback from students in attendance has been overwhelmingly positive, as many students have made invaluable connections with employers. The next networking event is scheduled for next fall on Monday, September 29th. Mark your calendars!

A special thanks to Maureen Eastham (Economics Department) and Sue Casson (SU Career Services) for all of their planning to make Networking Night a huge success!

Permanent Courses in Economics
Beginning Spring of 2015

The Economics Department is pleased to announce the following courses will be regular course offerings beginning the spring of 2015.

ECN 305: The Economics of Personal Finance (formerly ECN 310: Special Topics course) is taught by Professor Donald Dutkowsky and will be offered each spring semester. This course will count as an upper-division elective for all economics majors and minors. See course description below:

This course covers essential aspects of consumer personal finance, including record keeping, budgeting and income statements, banking, saving, borrowing, using credit, investing, acquiring insurance, doing taxes, and planning for retirement and end-of-life considerations. Students will learn important institutional facts about different types of bank deposits; mutual funds; bonds, including US Savings Bonds; stock; mutual funds; loans, including credit cards and fixed and adjustable rate mortgages; retirement accounts, such as Individual Retirement Accounts and 401 (k) plans; tax deductions and credits; and aspects of health, property, and life insurance.

Coverage of this institutional personal finance material will be framed within basic fundamentals of economic and financial analysis. This conceptual basis will give students a framework for evaluating and applying to your financial planning new innovations or laws as well as changes in financial products over time. Overall, the course helps to provide a foundation for students to make informed and reasoned choices with regard to financial decisions and managing their financial issues throughout their professional and personal lives.

ECN 422: Introduction to Statistics and Econometrics (formerly ECN 410: Special Topics course) will be offered every semester and will count as an upper-division elective for BA students and minors (not suitable for BS students). See course description below:

The objective of this course is to learn the theory and application of probability, statistics and econometrics. It is designed to expose you to the statistical techniques economists use in estimating, testing, and forecasting economic relationships. In the end, students should be informed consumers and producers of basic statistical analyses. The course is intended for BA students in economics and is not a substitute for ECN 521 and ECN 522.

Congratulations

Graduating Seniors!

GET ahead with Global Enterprise Technology classes

The GET minor is an excellent choice for economics majors—learning how large-scale information systems work is a major advantage as these are the systems driving 21st century industries and organizations. The U.S. government runs on enterprise systems, as do a range of financial, health and social institutions.

With only six credits of core requirements, (GET 234, 235, 236—all offered this coming fall) you can customize the minor with GET electives centered on your interests and career goals. A complete list of courses being offered for Fall 2014 can be viewed at <http://my.ischool.syr.edu/ClassSchedule/Index/1151/Undergraduate>.

To see how GET fits in with your program of study, talk to your advisor. For specific GET information and to apply for the minor, meet with Elaine Morgan or Tess Schaufler at the iSchool's Student Services Center, 114 Hinds Hall.

What's Going On...

Every year, the Economics Department offers many ways for students to meet other Economics majors, Econ faculty, and even alums. Here are a few upcoming events that you may want to put on your calendar.

- Economics Distinction Program - Student Presentations: The students in the Economics Distinction Program will present their work on April 30th from 11:00 am to 12:00 pm in 112 Eggers Hall. All are welcome to attend. Light refreshments will be served. There are three presentations.

Kenneth Arbuckle: “The Impact of Arrest on Expectations of Educational Attainment and Criminal Punishment“

Elizabeth Larimore: “The Effect of Minimum Wages on Smoking among Teens”

Ke Xu: “The Effect of Macroeconomic Conditions on Applications to Supplemental Security Income”

- Omicron Delta Epsilon Dinner: If you are joining ODE or were inducted last year, please join us for a dinner on Tuesday, April 8th honoring members of this international honor society. Please remember to RSVP for the dinner to Maureen Eastham mmeastha@maxwell.syr.edu. See inside for more information on this year’s guest speaker.
- Economics Club: See Page 7 for details about upcoming Club events.

Are you aiming for a BS, as opposed to a BA, in Economics?

Then make plans to fit the following courses into your plan of study for the BS:

ECN 311 (instead of 301), 505, 521, 522; MAT 295, 296.

Asha Sundaram ('10 Ph.D.) To Speak at ODE Induction Dinner on April 8th

A native of Mumbai, India, Asha Sundaram is currently Assistant Professor of Economics at the University of Cape Town, South Africa, and a visiting scholar at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. She obtained her M.Phil in Economics from Oxford University, where she was a British Chevening scholar, and her Ph.D. in Economics from Syracuse University, New York. Prior to pursuing her Ph.D., she worked at the Development Economics Research Group at The World Bank in Washington D.C. Her research spans the areas of International Trade and Development. Asha enjoys traveling and exploring new cultures.

OMICRON DELTA EPSILON

International Economics Honor Society

Outstanding students in economics are invited to become lifetime members in the Omicron Delta Epsilon international honor society (ODE). The society exists to form a community of economists across countries. Membership is based on scholarly achievement and is recognized worldwide. Criteria for selection for the ODE Honor Society are:

- Declared Economics major;
- Junior or senior standing;
- Overall GPA of 3.2 or higher;
- Successful completion of ECN 301 (or 311) and 302;
- Successful completion of at least two upper division ECN courses (300 level or above), excluding ECN 301, 302, 311, 365, and 470;
- Economics GPA of 3.2 or higher (calculated from course work taken to date in intermediate theory courses and upper-division economics electives).

If you qualify and you have not received an invitation to join this society from us, please contact Maureen Eastham in the department office 110 Eggers or at mmeastha@maxwell.syr.edu or 443-3843.

Syracuse University Economics Club Spring Semester News

The end of the semester is coming up and we have a lot planned!

We're planning an advising and chipotle session on Monday, March 31st at 5:30 pm in Eggers 112. Knowing which class to choose can be difficult, so come with questions and we'll answer whatever we can.

After that, please join us as we hold our annual BBQ and Election for 2014-2015's E-Board on April 11th! Would you like to be president, vice-president, comptroller, or secretary/editor and help lead the club in the fall? Officer elections will be held during the BBQ and we're sending out more information through the Econ department, so watch out for that. Finally, thanks to everyone one who has attend the events we've held this year. It's been a great year, and we look forward to finishing it with a bang.

ECN 301, Intermediate Microeconomics

Concepts and tools for the analysis of the behavior of consumers and firms, consumption decisions, market structures, and general equilibrium. Pricing, production, purchasing, and employment policies. Both ECN 301 and 311 cannot be counted toward the major/minor. Credit cannot be given for ECN 301 after completing ECN 311. Prereq: (ECN 101 and 102) or ECN 203; quantitative skills requirement of the liberal arts core recommended.

ECN 301, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 10891, Prof. O'Connor, TTH, 9:30-10:50
ECN 301, Sec. 002, Ref. No. 10893, Prof. O'Connor, TTH, 11:00-12:20

ECN 301, Sec. 005, Ref. No. 15705, Prof. O'Connor, TTH, 12:30-1:50

ECN 302, Intermediate Macroeconomics

National product and income concepts, measurements and relationships; interrelationships of the major segments of the national economy; forces affecting the general level of economic activity. Prereq: ECN 102 or 203; quantitative skills requirement of the liberal arts core recommended.

ECN 302, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 10897, Prof. Ondrich, TTH, 9:30-10:50
ECN 302, Sec. 002, Ref. No. 30453, Prof. Liu, MW, 2:15-3:35
ECN 302, Sec. 003, Ref. No. 11867, Prof. Paz, TTH, 12:30-1:50

ECN 304, Economics of Social Issues

Please note: this was previously an ECN 310 special topics numbered class. Credit only given one time for either ECN 310 Social Issues or ECN 304 Social Issues.

Application of the economic tool kit developed in introductory economics classes to current issues facing society. Topics include but are not limited to: market failure (the environment, drugs); price control issues (farm policy, rent control, minimum wage); health issues (health care, medicare, medicaid, prescription drugs); and other social issues (poverty, discrimination, social security). Prereq: ECN 203.

ECN 304, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 16081, Prof. Liu, MW, 12:45-2:05

ECN 310, Special Topics in Economics

ECN 310, Sec. 001, Personnel Economics, Ref. No. 17671, Prof. Laing, MW 5:15-6:35

The aim of this course is to provide a comprehensive introduction to modern personnel economics. Because the instructor's specialty is in information economics, time will be spent discussing the effects of incomplete information (for example regarding worker ability or performance) on labor market efficacy. The reason for this emphasis is that it appears that certain practices in the labor market can be understood only by appealing to informational asymmetries of one sort or another.

ECN 310, Sec. 002, Globalization, Ref. No. 15521, Prof. Mitra, MW 2:15-3:35

This course will be a non-technical study of the economic effects of the various forms of globalization. We will start with the trend towards increased globalization, especially greater openness in international trade. We will then cover in a non-technical way the determinants of trade patterns, the gains from trade and the economic costs of protectionism. We will next study the impact of trade on jobs and wages. Next we will study the benefits of foreign direct investment and look at the impact of offshoring (popularly called outsourcing) on overall domestic welfare, productivity and the welfare of workers. We will study how trade policy is made and the institutions that play a vital role in the making of trade policy. In this context, we will also look at trade agreements. The role of trade in development will be discussed in detail. We will also study some aspects of the economics of immigration. Finally, we will look at the effects of globalization on poverty, labor standards, environment and culture. Prereq: ECN 203.

ECN 311, Intermediate Mathematical Microeconomics

This course covers the same materials as covered in ECN 301, but the presentation is more mathematical than ECN 301. Both ECN 301 and 311 cannot be counted towards the major/minor. Credit cannot be given for ECN 301 after completing ECN 311. Prereq: (ECN 101 and 102) or ECN203; and MAT 284 or 285 or 295; or permission of instructor.

ECN 311, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 10899, Prof. Karakas, MW, 8:00-9:20

ECN 365, The World Economy

Non-technical introduction to analysis of international economic issues. Protectionism, the multinational firm, the debt crisis, international macroeconomic policy coordination, and European integration. This course may not be used to fulfill the upper division elective requirement for the economics major. Prereq: (ECN 101 and 102) or 203.

ECN 365, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 16473, Prof. Buzard, MW, 8:00-9:20

ECN 410, Special Topics in Economics

ECN 410, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 17269, Economic Development, Prof. Mutreja, TTH, 2:00-3:20

This course is an introduction to economic development with an emphasis on economic growth. The first part of the course addresses the meaning of economic development and its measurement across countries. The second part addresses the theory of economic growth. In this part, the focus is on empirical observations on differences between developed and developing countries, in particular the cross-country income differences. These empirical facts are studied within the framework of the theory of economic growth. Prereq: ECN 301 and ECN 302. Knowledge of algebra and elementary calculus is extremely helpful throughout the course.

ECN 410, Sec. 003, Ref. No. 13659, Introduction to Statistics & Econometrics, Prof. Lee, MWF, 10:35-11:30

Elementary theory of probability and statistical inference for economics. Estimation of parameters in regression models for economic data. This course is not a substitute for ECN 521 and 522. Quantitative skill requirements of the liberal arts core and ECN 203 are required.

ECN 431, Public Economics

Theory of the public sector. Government expenditures, revenue, and debt. Intergovernmental fiscal relations. Government contributions to stabilization and growth. Interaction of public and private sectors. Prereq: ECN 301 or 311.

ECN 431, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 17733, Public Economics, Prof. Wasylenko, TTH, 2:00-3:20

ECN 443, Real Estate Economics & Finance

Please note: this was previously an ECN 410 special topics numbered class. Credit only given one time for either ECN 410 Real Estate Economics & Finance or ECN 443 Real Estate Economics & Finance.

This course is designed to provide students with an introductory analysis of investment in real estate markets. The class will consider both land and mortgage markets, as well as a variety of public policies that affect these markets. The class begins with an analysis of real estate markets, paying special attention to what determines house price movements (including bubbles). This analysis will establish several principles that we will draw upon in the rest of the course. Our focus will be primarily on residential properties, but we will also consider commercial real estate. An important segment of the course will analyze mortgage instruments used to finance investments in real estate. This will include calculating payments streams for different types of mortgages, consideration of how lenders manage interest rate and default risk, and the role of the secondary market for mortgage securities. The course concludes by examining recent efforts to promote homeownership, especially among lower income families. Prereq: ECN 301 and solid math skills are required. Some calculus may be used in the course, but only infrequently. Previous course work in finance is not required.

ECN 443, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 30447, Real Estate Economics & Finance, Prof. Rosenthal, MW, 8:00-9:20

ECN 465, International Trade Theory & Policy

Economic causes and consequences of international trade. Models of trade, gains from trade, tariffs and other controls on trade, and international institutions guiding the trading systems. Prereq: ECN 301 or 311.

ECN 465, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 15523, Prof. Mutreja, TTH, 11:00-12:20

Ecn 487, Economic Growth

Please note: this was previously an ECN 410 special topics numbered class. Credit only given one time for either ECN 410 Economic Growth or ECN 487 Economic Growth.

This course is an introduction to the study of economic growth. It is devoted to the study of models of economic growth and their applications. The focus is on empirical observations across countries, in particular the cross-country income differences. The empirical facts are studied within the framework of the theory of economic growth. Prereq: ECN 301 and ECN 302. Knowledge of algebra and elementary calculus is extremely helpful throughout the course.

ECN 487, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 17285, Prof. Mutreja, TTH, 12:30-1:50

ECN 495, Economics Honors Thesis

This seminar is open only to Economics Distinction students. In the fall semester, its goal is to orient students to professional economics research and to guide them as they define and begin their thesis projects. In the spring semester, thesis writers present their ongoing research, constructively engage the work of other honors students, and work in close cooperation with a faculty mentor to complete their research. Prereq: Permission of instructor.

ECN 495, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 13573, Prof. Singleton, TTH, 5:00-6:20

ECN 505, Mathematical Economics

Introduction to use of basic mathematical techniques in economic analysis.

Prereq: (MAT 284 or 286 or 296) and (ECN 301 or 311). Instructor consent.

ECN 505, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 13567, Prof. Ondrich, TTH, 2:00-3:20

ECN 521, Economic Statistics

Statistical methods applied to economics. Conventional descriptive statistics, conceptual and measurement problems peculiar to economics. Analytical statistics, including time-series analysis, elementary theory of probability and statistical inference, correlation and regression analysis. Nonparametric methods. This course is not suitable for students who have taken six credits of statistics to fulfill their quantitative skills requirement. Prereq: ECN 203 and completion of liberal arts quantitative skills.

ECN 521, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 10907, Prof. Laing, MW 3:45-5:05

ECN 522, Econometric Methods

Statistical procedures. Problems of estimating parameters in regression models of economic behavior. Prereq: (ECN 521 or equivalent) and (ECN 301 or 311); or permission of instructor.

ECN 522, Sec. 001, Ref. No. 16595, Prof. Lee, MW, 9:30-10:25

SENIOR CHECK LIST

Seniors in The College of Arts and Sciences.....

(other seniors--please check with your respective college recorders)

- Senior Check..... Check with your college Recorder to see that your major(s) or minor(s) are officially declared and correctly noted on your record. If you are no longer pursuing a listed major or minor, please make sure that it is deleted from your record.
- Major Requirements..... Prior to making your Senior Check appointment, we strongly encourage you to check with your advisor(s) in your major(s) to insure that you are on track for graduation within all your major(s). During your Senior Check, the Student Records Office will determine remaining core requirements, overall credits and general University requirements. The Records office will not confirm the completion of your major until the degree certification process which occurs at the end of your college career.
- Program(s) of Study..... Check with your college Recorder/Academic Advisor to see that your major(s) and or minor(s) requirements have been fulfilled. If you are no longer pursuing a listed major or minor, please make sure that it is deleted from your record.
- B.S. Petitions..... The Arts & Sciences Academic Support Office, 323 Hall of Languages, has a pre-printed form for the B.S. degree. When you do your Senior Check, your recorder will give you the form to bring to your department. Economic students should bring it to the Assistant to the Chair for completion. The student then returns the completed form to the A&S Student Records Office.
- Transfer Credits..... Check with your College Recorder/Academic Advisor to make sure that the official transcripts of all credit you intend to have included toward your degree have been received and evaluated.

Incompletes

All coursework must be completed and handed in prior to graduation dates.

May grads – work due by May 8th

August grads – work due by August 8th

December grads – work due by December 18th

Work completed after the above dates automatically changes your graduation date.

Make sure your professors agree to the latest date of completion.

Diplomas.....

Diplomas are mailed to the address entered on the Diploma Request link. When an undergraduate student attains Junior standing (54 credits or more), the File Diploma Request link becomes available under Student Services in MySlice. Students must use this link to specify the term in which they intend to graduate and to provide information for their diploma. If your information is not complete, you will not receive commencement mailings with event calendars and dinner dance reservation forms, most importantly, you will not receive your diploma! Students must also contact their home school or college to review all graduation requirements.

Local Address

Senior mailings are sent to the local address as it appears on MySlice, the Syracuse University information system. Make sure that it is correct and current.

Graduating??

Please feel free to stop by the Economics Department where Sue Lewis will be happy to verify the completion of your Economics major/minor requirements.
