

TENTH DECADE PROJECT
WORK, LABOR
AND CITIZENSHIP

Announcing the 2017-2018 grant recipients of the Maxwell Tenth Decade Project on Work, Labor, and Citizenship

RESEARCH GRANTS

Carrie Elliott (Ph.D. candidate in Sociology): “Exploring the Impact of EHRs on the Work of Physician-Citizens”

Matt Huber (Associate Professor of Geography): “Depopulating the Countryside: The Rockefeller Foundation’s ‘Green Revolution’ and the War against Agricultural Labor”

Laura-Anne Minkoff-Zern (Assistant Professor of Food Studies, Falk College): “The New American Farmer: Immigration, Race, and the Struggle for Sustainability”

Krushna Ranaware (Ph.D. candidate in Social Science): “Gender, Labour, and Agricultural Markets in Western Maharashtra, India”

Carlo Sica (Ph.D. candidate in Geography): “The Deregulation of Natural Gas and the Rise of Neoliberalism in the 1970s”

Tiago Teixeira (Ph.D. candidate in Geography): “State Power and Workforce Development Governance: A Comparative Analysis between the Aerospace Clusters in Charleston County, South Carolina, USA and São José dos Campos, Sao Paulo, Brazil”

CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT GRANTS

Gretchen Purser (Assistant Professor of Sociology): “Work, Labor, and Citizenship”

Tod Rutherford (Professor of Geography): “Labor Geography”